Progressive Investment Club Dinner

The Progres sive Investment Club of Tacoma had a dinner meeting at the Esquire Restaurant on Feb. 19, 1973.

The club was established in May of 68 and consists of fifteen investors living in the Tacoma area. All club members are also members of the National Association of Investment Clubs (NAIC).

The objective of the Club is to make money on regular investments in stocks and bonds, with future growth in commercial investments.

The club meets every 2nd Wednesday of the month at the Esquire Restaurant (Tacoma). Members are: Jimmy Simmons, Pres; Harold Bond, Treas; Clifton Dabney, Sect; Leon Glover Act Sect; Lenard Balwin, Nathan Betterson, Roscoe Boozer, Joseph Boston, Rev. ES Brazill, Lloyd Davis, John Gant, Brozie Lathan, Grady Marsh, Carlton Tucker, and last but not least Clemon Modisett who is the dynamic leader of this organization. Mr. Modisett has been active in stock trading for many years and knows his way around all the stock exchanges. He started this club and has guided its progress over the past few years. His goal for this club is to make a million in the next few years and the members believe it will be done.

Teens Involved In Youth Conference

Junior and Senior High Teens are invited to attend a "Youth Involvement Conference" to be held Saturday, Feb. 24 from noon to 4 pm at the Tacoma YWCA, 401 Broadway.

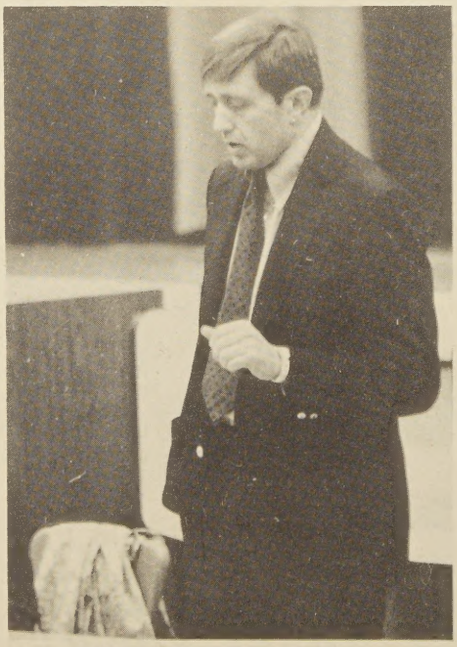
Teens will make plans for Spring Activities at the YW, air their feeling at a rap session, enjoy songs and refreshments and take part in group discuss ions on what affects their lives and how they'd like to make changes.

Further information may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Dorothy Trimble, BR2-4181.

Public Notice

The public is invited to attend the Eta Mu Zeta Chapter of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority's mini Black Awareness Workshop, March 1, 1973, 7-10 P.M. at the Colored Women's Clubhouse, 2316 South Yakima Avenue.

PALMQUIST APPOINTED MODEL CITIES DIRECTOR



City Manager William Donaldson announced the appointment of Keith Palmquist as director of the Tacoma Model Cities Program Feb. 13.

Palmquist has been serving as acting director since July, 1972, when former director Frank Russell resigned. The City Manager decided to wait until a new Executive Board was elected in September before appointing a new director.

Palmquist was assistant director of the program from January, 1970 to July, 1972.

HE DOES IT WITH MIRRORS

President Nixon has done it again.

He has succeeded in sending to the Congress a budget, which while calling for an increase in spending on social reforms, actually will end up eliminating most of the important social reforms of the past decade through which Black and other poor minorities have made their greatest advancements.

It is all being done with mirrors in the highest tradition of the "Tricky Dick" fashion.

For example the President's budget calls for an increase of 8 per cent for things like Social Security, welfare, and unemployment insurance, but at the same time it calls for the elimination of the Office of Economic Opportunity and its multiple anti-poverty programs, the all important Community Action programs, the Model Cities Programs, the Regional Medical Programs, Job Training Programs and Urban Development Programs. All of these have been key sources of income and training to minority groups under previous administrations.

The question naturally arises: Where do minorities go from here? The answer lies in the Congress.

The President has been clever in drawing his budget. Much of it is designed to get around Congress by claiming Presidential authority to withhold money appropriated by Congress. He has already exercised this dubious authority by withholding and refusing to spend several billion dollars which the Congress authorized to be spent in the fiscal year 1973.

But several lawsuits have already been filed on this matter and this situation ultimately will end up in the Supreme Court.

The big point is that in a system of checks and balances the Congress must not be afraid to challenge the President when his actions are so much against the best interests of so many people.

The move for minorities, therefore, must be to insist that their Congressmen not sit idly by and let the President get away with a budget so directly harmful to their interests.

The Black Caucus should take the lead in this action and the constituencies which they represent should force other members of Congress to stand with them.

City Wants Public Defender

The City Council voted on Feb. 13, to apply for $75,000 Law Enforcement Assistance Act funds for the Model Cities Public Defender Project.

The new project will provide legal defense for Tacoma residents who have been accused of misdemeanors and cannot afford an attorney. The defender would reduce the need for court appointed attorneys in Municipal Courts, saving the City money.

Model Cities will contribute $13,000 to the project which should be used for Model Neighborhood residents, according to Director Keith Palmquist. Services of the defender will be available to any Tacoma resident meeting the financial requirements.

Several supporters of the resolution said they hoped the project could be expanded to cover District as well as Municipal Courts which would include felony cases. Representatives of the Tacoma Urban League, Minority Concerns Task Force, and Human Resources Commission spoke in favor of the resolution.

The proposed operating agency is the Legal Assistance Foundation, an independent corporation of local lawyers.

HELPING OURSELVES

I am a resident in the Washington Correction Center in Shelton, Washington. Since my stay here, I have noticed that a relatively large percent of the Black population, which is only about fifty, are quite aware of themselves and their Blackness. Basically, they serve as educators to the Brothers who have not yet truly adapted to 'where they're at and what it is.'

A man is sent here because society condemns him as an outcast and he is treated accordingly. The system that governs our behavior and attitude is not actually sufficient enough to aid in our 'rehabilitation'. The rejuvenation of our lives must be acquired through the want of helping ourselves first. The Black Culture Workshop we have here is fulfilling that goal.

In the Workshop, we stress unity for one and all Brothers. To institute more participation, we have reassembled the Workshop into individual committees so as to give each Brother an opportunity in which to express himself within the workshop. Among these committees include; Political Awareness, Black History, Speech Delivery, Entertainment, and Drama.

I feel that we are, and rightly so, definitely trying to solve the problems which led each and everyone of us here. We maintain constant contact with the communities around our exterior, for this is one of our 'main veins' of existence. We need community recognition and support. Our time is limited here and one day we shall return to our respective neighborhoods, hopefully as productive Black citizens.

Your letters to the Black Culture Workshop will be greatly appreciated by all concerned Black Brothers here within the institution.

Yours In Peace & Unity
Malcolm J. West, Secretary
Black Culture Workshop

Beauty Hints

by Lady Diane

Hair--This being my first article on Cosmetology lets begin with the most important phase "The hair and its uses."

Uses of the hair are three-fold-a) As a preservative of heat b) As a protective agency c) As a promoter of beauty.

We are concerned with the promotion of beauty as a beauticians. Little need be said of the hair as a promoter of beauty as it is conceded that it is an adornment when it is kept neat, styled, and clean. How do we go about keeping this vital part of the body well groomed? First of all everyone cannot be trained to accomplish this as it is time consuming and expensive. So where do we find qualified personnel to help us in caring for the hair, such as treating and suggesting different styles that will best blend with your personality. As beauticians we are trained to care for all types of hair-Curly, Kinky, and Straight.

Wilson calculated that there are about 120,000 hairs upon the head of an adult, as a rule the finer the hairs are the more there will be per square inch of surface area. So what we are conerned with here is, how do we put all these hairs together to form the right style that will best suit your personality. This involves the skills of hair cutting, shampoos, condition, hair setting and grooming, plus the scientific application and use of various cosmetics and a host of hairdressings.

So when you look in the mirror just remember how much your beautician can improve your looks and bring out that personality of yours. She can also give you lots of helpful hints on how to care for your hair and scalp. I will also be giving you some helpful hints on cosmetology in my future articles on beauty hints. So watch for these helpful and worthwhile articles.

We are always getting ready to live, but never living.

Ujamaa Center Seeks Aid For Improvements

The Ujamaa (Unity) Culture and Recreation Center will be celebrating its First Year Anniversary on May 26, 1973, symbolizing exactly one year of service to the Community.

One of the goals of the Center is to always strive to maintain the appearance of the Center both on the interior and exterior and to try to add more and better equipment and facilities to the Center with hopes of upgrading its appearance and its service to the Community.

Currently plans for additional remodeling of the Center that will involve the construction of partition in the front lobby that would serve as walls to divide the lobby into four (4) different activity areas.

These areas are a lounge with furniture, television and game tables, a reading area, a pool tables area, and a ping pong area.

In the auditorium plans have been laid for the construction of a four foot extension to the stage that would be portable and could also be used for a Fashion Show Ramp.

The staff, along with Community volunteer, have already constructed partitions used to divide one long room into three separate Workshops areas for Drawing-Painting, Sewing-Ceramics-Leathercrafts and Music. The construction of these workshops has made it possible for the Center to provide a better service to the Community and has also upgraded the appearance.

The Center is currently trying to locate paint (red, black, green, white) so that the exterior of the Center can be painted to make the outside appealing and attractive.

All of these plans are good and once accomplished the Center would be one of the most beautiful and useful buildings in the Community. But, the materials must be acquired and the only way that the Center can get these materials is through donations from area companies, businesses or Community residents. Any information about donations or help would be appreciated.

Adult Offender Outreach Project

Friends and neighbors of the Hilltop and Model Neighborhood area, the Adult Offender Outreach Project is now working again to deliver service to the community. Our office has relocated from 1301 So. "K" St. to 1314 So. "K" St.

Our program is designed to help ex-offenders to stay out of the institution; to help unemployed persons find jobs and the underemployed obtain suitable employment for their respective skills.

We would like to thank those Employers that have hired people through our program and those that have taken the time to listen and express their concern about the people of the Hilltop Community that we service. We also wish to ask forgiveness from those people we were unable to service fully during the time our funds were not available and we were unable to function properly.

For additional information on how Adult Offender Outreach Project can help you, please call BR2-9386, or come by 1314 So. "K" Street.

RONALD DELLUMS AMERICA LABELS 'A NATION OF NIGGERS'

by Mel Guy

"By putting together equal amounts of determination and hard work, sprinkled generously with love, we turned what could have been a joke into an historic occasion."

This was the way an obviously proud Rossalind Y. Woodhouse, mistress of ceremony, addressed a predominately female capacity crowd including many prominent Seattle blacks at the closing session of the very First Black Women's Forum last Saturday night at Roethke Auditorium on the University of Washington campus. The Forum representing, six months of concentrated effort to combat problems facing black women, overflowed with pride and feminity.

The program, appropriately entitled "Inner Attainment," was pleasantly complimented by the dancing of Grace Perking and Edna DeGray, excerps from "Evolution of a Sister" by poetess-actress Francine Major, and the soulful singing of Marilyn Webb. Sister Webb's intrepretations of "I Don't Know How To Love Him" and "The First Time Ever I Saw Your Face" "hit home" with the festive audience.

But the man of the hour, Congressmen Ronald V. Dellums, tagged a "radical extremist" by Spiro Agnew, climaxed the day long festivities with his speech on "Coalition Politics."

The impeccably attired Dellums whose many credentials ate too numerous to contemplate here, made point after point during his hour long presentation in denouncing the obvious contradicition, charactistic of American society.

"What did it mean, he asked for Nixon to go across the seas and shake hands with the brothers in Peking and the people in Moscow if we still have to spend billions of dollars building sophisticated weapon systems when they keep on going on television at prime time telling us that we are moving into a generation of peace?"

The charasmatic congressman speaking with much conviction said "The issue for me is not simply withdraw from Viet Nam. Withdraw from a mentality that sees the need to bomb, kill. maim, and destroy as the way of solving human problems is what I'm talking about."

Representative Dellums labeled America "a nation of niggers," defining nigger as anyone who is "victimized or stigmatized by others, anyone whose opportunity is limited by others and anyone whose justice is meted out on an expedient rather than on a human basis...We (Blacks) no longer have a monopoly over being treated like niggers in this country."

"You got black niggers, brown niggers, red niggers, yellow niggers, white niggers, long-haired niggers, student niggers, women niggers, old niggers and working class niggers."

"If nigger is too shocking a term, then take out the work nigger and insert the word victim, oppressed, or downtrodden. Same trip ... As long as women are treated as bed partners, bed makers, broom pushers, bottle washers, typist and cooks, y'all are niggers in this society, he continued.

The two-term representative who is the father of five children and some news for the men to, suggesting that men "stop going to bed with a statistic and relating with a human being."

Although Dellums has sponsored more than 140 bills related to war crimes, military racism, prison reform, domestic problems and such, he said he did not have a formula for peace and justice.

However, Dellums did say that sexism, racism, militarism, proverty, and inadequate education collectively were the number one problem facing America. "These are outward manifestations of one single problem that can very easily and dramatically be described as human injustice," he repeatedly stressed.

The congressman who grew up in the West Oakland Ghetto received hearty applause and wild cheering as he concluded his commentary on American policies.

You Need Both Halves...

Northwest Interiors got more than just modern telephone equipment when they moved from Seattle to Enumclaw.

They got a custom-designed Total Communications system. From us.

After looking at the equipment others had to offer, Northwest Interiors decided they wanted everything that goes along with it. The whole thing!

So we supplied modern Call Director® telephones. We also installed special lines to provide toll-free customer calling from Seattle. We provided a Business Interphone System and three intercom lines. We installed private lines to their warehouse.

We didn't stop there.

We also pay the property taxes on the equipment. We guarantee it. We provide continuing maintenance and no extra charge repair service. When needed we will provide training programs for Northwest Interiors' employees.

Our Communications Consultants will schedule periodic inspections of the new system to be sure everything is operating properly. At no extra charge.

We can provide the same Total Communications for your business, too.

When you want Total Communications... Call On Us.

Seattle 2000 Commission Meets In Task Forces

Beginning a unique approach to city planning, the Seattle 2000 Commission met in Task Forces for the first time Tuesday, Feb. 13 at the Seattle Center. More than three hundred people turned out to work on the 12 task forces studying subjects such as transportation, housing, law and justice, and social and health services.

The second of the 11-meeting series will be held in the Seattle Center North Court Rooms at 7:30 pm Tuesday, Feb. 20th. Thereafter Task Forces will meet every Monday night at 7:30 to set planning goals for the City of Seattle from the present up to the year 2000.

Doug Raff, chairman of the Commission's executive board pointed out that the Task Force planning process is open to participation by anyone who lives or works in Seattle. He strongly urged citizens interested in the city's future to attend and contribute to the development of the new comprehensive plan.

Goals and recommendations generated by the citizens' Task Forces will be submitted for action to the City Council and Mayor Wes Uhlman in late May.

Topics chosen by the Commission last month for Task Force consideration are: Community, Downtown and Major Activity Areas, Economy and Economic Security, Education and Communication, Environment Pollution, Population and Energy, Government and Citizen Participation, Housing, Law and Justice, Recreation, Leisure and Cultural Activities, Social and Health Services, Social Justice and Human Resources Transportation-Utilities-New Technologies.

Raff said further information on the Commission's activities can be obtained by calling 583-2837.

One of the great maladies of our time is the way sophistication seems to be valued above common sense.

Chains

He gives me time, I do not want but must do.
He gives me food, I regret I eat afterwards.
He gives me a bed, upon which many others have slept.
He gives me his attention, at every tower and gate.

He takes from me my gift of freedom, as tho it's his own.
He takes from me my sexual pleasures, as if my love for woman is not a necessity.
He takes from me my name and pronounces me a number, so that I am easily recognized as one of his sheep.

He tells me he will help in rehabilitating me, by working me on his jobs in order to save more money.
He tells me to communicate with him, so that he can find an excuse to make my stay here longer and more doggish.
He tells me to break away from my beautiful people, in order to keep the 'wheat boys' pacified and happy.

To Hell with him. I'm my own man. I can correct myself better than he can, especially with the ancient tools he uses.
I can get my own work, my own bed, woman, rehabilitation, self-esteem, and freedom from life.
Take away these chains...free my legs and arms,
And just watch me.

Bubbles that do not burst make up the bubble nest that the male Siamese fighting fish builds on the surface of water.

Food For Thought

Mrs. G.M. Batie

A Woman's Home--The home should be first and foremost in your life, but if you allow household cares entirely to occupy your thought you will become narrow in your interest and sympathies. A great deal of course hinges upon good management and if this is good there is always time for everything-- Think about it.

Let's try chicken, since it is what we are using a lot of these days, meat prices being what they are:

Chicken Cacciatore

2 fryers cut up in pieces
1/2 cup oil
2 cans stewed tomatoes
1 large onion, chopped
1 large green pepper, chopped
2 cloves garlic, minced
4 oz can sliced mushrooms
1 6 oz. can tomato sauce
2 teasp oregano
1 teasp thyme

Brown chicken in oil in skillet. Remove chicken; brown onion, green pepper, garlic and mushrooms. Return chicken to skillet; add stewed tomatoes, tomato paste and other seasoning. Cook slowly 30 min. Serve on hot spaghetti 6-8 servings.

JOE FRAZIER REALLY RAPS MUHAMMAD ALI

"I'm five times as black as Clay," claims Joe Frazier in the new March issue of Playboy Magazine. "And that's not even looking at the skin."

The former heavyweight champion, who has never made any secret of his lack of love for Muhammad Ali, did some classic bad-mouthing in an interview with associate editor Carl Snyder. Beginning with his insistence on referring to Ali as "Clay" ("He calls me a Tom. So if I got to be a Tom, he can be Clay"), Frazier went on to downgrade Ali's contributions to the black community -- and to upgrade his own.

"Tell me what this man has done for black people that I ain't done?" Frazier demanded of Synder, who immediately asked what his interviewee had done.

"I've been giving all of me," Frazier retorted. "Any way I can...I think just by being a person, the way I am...that's giving the black man all he needs...By being black and being a human being, by being intelligent and handling myself well in public, that's the way I represent black people."

Professing himself a "very regligious" Baptist, Frazier told Playboy he considers Ali's Muslim religion "all one big front.

"That means using other men," he added, "and mostly what they use, as far as I'm concerned, is the black movement."

Frazier was bitter over Ali's allegation that he is (or was, in the pre-Kingston days when the Playboy interview took place) a white man's champ. "I represent the world, so I don't see how I can be only the white man's champ," he said. "I'm not just the champion of Philadelphia or the United States."

Nor does he believe that Ali was ever "the greatest."

"I don't see anything so goddamned great that this clown has done," Frazier said. "Yeah, he's great with his mouth. But in the ring, he ain't that great...

"Wherever he goes, he makes a lot of noise. He's just like a kid who don't know when to stop. You ever get a kid when you talk to him and play with him, he don't want to stop, and you got to whup his ass to make him behave? That's what this monkey here is like."

Frazier admitted, nevertheless, that in the ring Ali had been his most formidable opponent to that (pre-Forman) date. He also provided Playboy with a professional appraisal which has proved to be, in the light of subsequent ring developments, a marvel of misjudgement.

"I say Clay is good, but I'm the best," he said. "Ellis was good, but I'm the best. Quarry was good, but I'm the best...I know my job real well."

Hitchhiking To Be Discussed On Contact Show

'Contact" producer Al Thierry has announced that Hitchhiking and Crime Related to the controversy surrounding hitchhiking in the State of Washington will be the topic of discussion on the February 24, 1973 segment of 'Contact."

Hostess Harriet Williams will be joined by Chief of Police Lyle Smith, Senator Joe Stortini and House of Representative member C.W. "Red" Beck.

The program, jointly produced by the Metropolitan Development Council and the Public Affairs Department of KTVW-TV channel 13, will air at 9:00 am on February 24,1973.

Could you become a racing driver? If you join a sports car club, you could find out in a safe, sure manner.

One of the best means of evaluating yourself as a driver is to participate in a gymkhana. This is a timed event, with one car at a time running over a slalom course, often laid out on a parking lot.

If this sounds interesting, try it. Then compare your elapsed time with other drivers whose cars are similar to yours in performance.

Should you do well here, the next step may well be a local race. Don't skimp on mandatory safety items though.

If your driving needs improvement, why not try rallying? These events, held on public highways, offer drivers a challenge in that exact, legal speeds must be maintained. Also, the wife or girl friend can be taken along as navigator.

Today's Tip:

Tuning your car does not stop with the engine. A properly tuned suspension system, performed at a tire and auto center, will provide quicker, surer, safer handling – and lower elapsed times.

THE RECORD REVIEW

by Jim Holzworth

Birth Day means happy listening for you and me

The New Birth as a recording act is just as spectacular as the New Birth--in person. You might say The New Birth has become a musical episode. In a relatively brief period of time The New Birth under the dynamic direction of producer Harvey Fuqua, has been born and reborn...each time coming up with new sound, new dimensions and new excitment.

If we speak of new trends, then we must acknowledge the presence of The New Birth. My friends, you are invited to participate in the musical communion about to take place. Birthday means happy listening for you and me.

There are four colleges and three community colleges in the immediate area. They are Pacific Lutheran, The Evergreen State College, University of Puget Sound and St. Martins (4 yr)-Tacoma, Fort Steilacoom and Green River (2 yr).

Each of these schools has at least one person whose job is to recruit and help minority students. If you have considered going to college but did not know who to contact, the following is a list of people who are very concerned about helping you get an education. They will use all available resources on your behalf.

HAROLD GAMBLE, Minority Coordinator, Pacific Lutheran University, LEl-6900-ext. 443.

PHIL MINER, Recruiter, PLU, LE 1-6900 ext. 227.

RUDY MARTIN, Minority Coordinator, Evergreen (Olympia) 753-3965.

BOB BOTLEY, Asst. Dean Minority Students, UPS, SK9-3521.

ROBERT FORD, Urban Studies, UPS, SK9-3521, ext. 222.

RICHARD LONBORG, Minority Coordinator, St. Martin's, (Lacey) 491-4700.

DOUG LOCK, Director of Minority Affairs, Fort Steilacoom, JU8-3623, ext. 82.

DON BURRELL, Black Studies, FSCC, 588-3623, ext. 60.

FRANCES RUIZ, Indian Affairs, 588-3623, ext. 75.

JIM JOSEY, Minority Coordinator, Green River (Auburn) 833-9111 ext. 304.

BERT BECKEL, Developmental Center, Green River, 833-9111 ext. 346.

JOHN EMHOOLAH, Indian Advisor, 833-9111 ext. 265.

CARL BROWN, Minority Coordinator, TCC, LO4-7200, ext. 393.

RICK RICO, Minority Counselor, TCC, LO4-7200, ext. 395.

KAREN BECKER, Career Development and Adult Basic Education, TCC, 104-7200, ext. 290.

CPAs Warn Of Pitfalls In Deducting Business Costs

In computing income tax deductions, one area in which there is widespread misunderstanding is unreimbursed business expenses, according to the Washington Society of Certified Public Accountants.

Many taxpayers, say the CPAs, overlook valid business deductions entirely, while others have an exaggerated idea of what is deductible.

It is not just businessmen who are affected. People in almost any line of work can incur expenses simply to hold their jobs. Among these are dues paid to a union or professional society, subscriptions to technical publications, tools, and uniforms or special work clothes worn only on the job. Such items are usually deductible. The costs of commuting to and from the job are not.

Educational or training courses taken in order to stay abreast of recent developments in one's line or to enhance skills may be deductible, but only if they are needed to retain present salary or employment status. If the course prepares the individual for a new, different job it doesn't qualify.

If the nature of one's work requires an office or other work area in the home, a percentage of household maintenance costs and depreciation may be deductible. The percentage is usually based on the ratio of floor space or number of rooms used for business to the total floor space or number of rooms in the residence.

This ratio applies only if the area is used exclusively for business. If the space is used for business only a part of the time, the deduction myst be reduced accordingly.

Deductions for business entertainment are closely watched by the Internal Revenue Service, the CPAs advise. Business lunches with customers or valuable contacts are not as likely to be questioned as are dinner parties, sports events, fishing trips and other forms of entertainment. If there is more than just a meal and conversation, it is necessary that business be discussed before, during, or after the entertainment.

The presence at such affairs of non-business friends increases the likelihood that the deduction will be questioned.

If a taxpayer plans to take a deduction for a trip that was partly for business and partly for pleasure, he must be ready to prove that it was not just a vacation in disguise. Evidence of attendance at meetings or convention sessions or of calls on business contacts must show that most of the time was spent on such activities and not on golf or sightseeing.

All personal deductions for unreimbursed business expenses are likely to be questioned or disallowed if the taxpayer is a principal in a closely-held business firm. The IRS position in such cases, reports the CPA Society, is that if the expense was necessary to a company in which the taxpayer is a boss, he has the power and the obligation to have the company reimburse him.

Black Marines Get 'Boost' To Be Officers

MARINE CAPT. DENNIS BARKSDALE joined the Corps as an enlisted man and rose to his present rank.

IN COMMUNICATION with other units, Marine Capt. Leonard H. Wil is commands his men during field exercises.

Four young black Marines -- three corporals and a sergeant -- are puzzling daily over problems not normally faced in the Corps.

James O. Lee Jr. is immersed in a cloak of calculus; Dennis A. West is performing a chemistry experiment; Elbert D. White is expounding on a law of physics; and William Washington Jr. is concerning himself with verbs and adjectives.

The four are part of a joing Marine Corps and Navy program called BOOST (Broadened Opportunities for Officer Selection and Training that acts as a one-to-two-year college preparatory school, and a major step into the Marine Officer Corps. BOOST helps young blacks and other minorities score high marks on tests that will take them from enlisted status into officer training programs.

"We call our program an 'unequal opportunity' through which these men can gain an equal opportunity," says Navy Lt. Comd. Rudy Glivings, a black officer who administers BOOST.

According to him, more than 75 persons going full time to college under Marine and Navy programs are there primarily because of the educational efforts of BOOST.

Open to Marine and Navy enlisted personnel, the program is administered in a college-like atmosphere in San Diego, California. When the students finish their "preparatory studies" therw, they then attend any one of a number of major colleges. Upon graduation from a university, they soon become commissioned officers in the Marine Corps.

For many persons, BOOST was a big bonus in their military commitment and helped them focus on their high school achievements while strengthening some weak spots.

All of the Matines in BOOST are looking forward not only to four years of college at the Corps' expense but to becoming Marine Corps officers through a series of special programs. The Corps offers many avenues leading to a vommission and more details are available from local Marine recruiters.

POLITENESS IS NOT always the sign of wisdom, but the want of it always leaves room for the suspicion of folly.

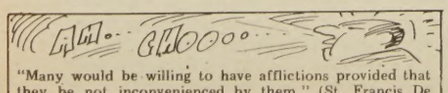
THE PINCHED LOOK

In the Third World this season, they're wearing styles longer—as long, in fact, as a tatter of cloth will hold together. These African youngsters dramatize the before-and-after of a campaign to clothe the ragged of the earth. It's conducted through your dollar contributions to the American Catholic Overseas Aid Fund—which primarily benefits Catholic Relief Services, a voluntary agency that provides wearing apparel to the world's poverty-stricken without regard to race or religion.

To most of the world, clothing is much more than a fashion-designer's conceit; it's a matter of survival. In Korea, for instance, winters are as brutal as they are in Bismarck, N.D. And even in equatorial Ecuador and near-equatorial Peru and Bolivia, freezing temperatures and biting winds whip along the high Andes, where most of the destitute populations of those countries live. Beyond the immediate need for physical comfort and protection against the elements is another factor: Dignity. Even the poorest parent is reluctant to send a child to school in rags to be exposed to ridicule.

To help see that it doesn't happen, you can join a dignity-building undertaking by sending your donation to the nearest Catholic church or to American Catholic Overseas Aid Fund, Empire State Building, New York, N.Y. 10001.

For someone somewhere, it will mean the realization of an impossible rags-to-riches dream.



"Many would be willing to have afflictions provided that they be not inconvenienced by them." (St. Francis De Sales)

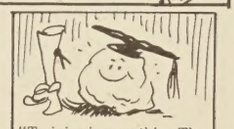
THE GROOVE RECORD SHOP OPENS

A new business has opened in the "K" St. business district. It is called "THE GROOVE RECORD SHOP" and is located on the balcony of Harold Meyer Drug Store. The owner is Jim Holzworth, who for the past two years has been the manager of the Brass Ear on the Tacoma Mall.

Jim opened his first record shop five months ago in Parkland, just 1/2 block east of PLU.

The Groove record shop is well known for having the latest and best selection of Soul & Blues and Jazz in the Tacoma area. The Groove will order LP's and 45's and usually will have them in three to four days after you place your order.

So get your head on straight and "SLIP INTO THE GROOVE" for your latest LP or 45.



"Training is everything. The peach was once a bitter almond; cauliflower is but a cabbage with a college education."(Mark Twain)

SLEEK, BOLD, & HANDSOME

On Monday, February 19th, the Matron's Club again had a capacity crowd of over 700 at their annual President's Fashion Show.

The theme of "Sleek, Bold, & Handsome" was carried out with beautiful clothing from Shelly Wallers creations, Jay Jacobs and I. Romanoff.

The female models were dashing in pant-suits, long flowing granny dresses, slinky formals, and some were bold in their crocheted outfits.

One of the climaxes of the show was a white crocheted jump suit worn by beautiful Marie Nilms.

Some of the male models chose cotton velveteen blazer jackets in a range of colors including green, red, brown, black and tan. Gangster pants in bold plaids and solids complimented many of the blazer jackets.

Kevin Isaac stole the first half of the show as he boldly modeled a tan leather trench coat over chocolate brown gangster pants and a brown and white polyester shirt.

Five of the Matron's Club members modeled outfits that they designed themselves. Some also wore articles from Jay Jacobs.

Phil Miner did a creative dance entitled "Blackness." It was a modern creative number.

Mrs. Ozetta Allen and Don St. Thomas of KTNT kept the capacity crowd entertained while commentating the three hour show.

Army ROTC Newsbeat

Ever hear of a "Beep" or a "Peep" in some other context than sound?

Well, back in the late 1930's, when the Army was experimenting with a mechanized form of transportation, Beep and Peep were the first names for what is now known all over the world as a Jeep.

The quarter-ton, lightweight, four-wheel drive, all-purpose vehicle soon became famous. During World War II, more than 630,000 of them were manufactured. And famed WWII correspondent Ernie Pyle said of Jeeps: "I don't think we could continue the war without them."

There are two theories on how the Jeep got the name that was to stick with it. One is that it was named after an animal character in a popular comic strip. Another, which seems more logical, is that it came from the letters G. P., for general purpose vehicle.

Whatever its name and how it was arrived at, the Army wouldn't be the Army today without the Jeep.

Army ROTC provides about 40 per cent of the Army's new officers each year. And many of them rise to the top, according to the latest tabulation of generals. More than 100 of today's generals are products of the Army ROTC program.
